Well October 31 I am in Sweden, but coming back on the 1st. And most likely on the 2nd there is a performance at platform. Let's shoot for Nov 16 for the talk, and you will have super company and great help with the files on 13+14. I will be back that evening hopefully.

I am forwarding this message to my colleagues so that they are in on the game as well.

Dear Vasif,
These things happen.

What I could do is shift my Istanbul visit one day forward. This means I would arrive on November 13 and leave on November 16 in the evening (the flight for Bucharest is at 19:20). In that case, could we schedule a lecture for the 16 as you suggest? An afternoon event is OK on a Saturday, right? The thing is, I also have to teach in Helsinki, on November 18-22. I need Sunday, November 17, for getting there via Bucharest and Stockholm ...

There is one more alternative. I could come to Istanbul on October 31, give my lecture on November 2 (also a Saturday) and leave in the evening for Bucharest at the same time, 19:20.

What do you say?

Anders
